

DAILY INSPIRATION - DAY 3

Welcome to Day 3

Today's Message:

Who are you really? Looking at your true authentic self and your sovereignty

It's not only possible to be truly yourself, it is the most exciting and safest path of them all. You are here, in this body, on this planet to know who you are. You are here to learn and you are here to grow.

YOU are a unique expression of infinite possibility and through your free will, you get to define who you are and co-create the experiences you will have.

The universe is infinite intelligence of supreme love and divinity, and you are a part of this energy that creates all things.

You are a unique individual, spiritual essence that emanates into this universe and you are here to celebrate and express your uniqueness.

You are more special, and more loved, than you could possibly know because you have been conditioned by society to think otherwise. Listen to the recording to find out who you really are...

Be kind to yourself, always and be in the energy of your true authentic self today! Xo Lisa